London Regional Employment Services

London Regional Employment Services will deliver employment services in London, the County of Middlesex, St. Thomas-County of Elgin, and the County of Oxford to provide locally responsive and community-based support for unemployed people, including those with disabilities, on their journey towards sustainable employment. Working with local service agencies and community partners, offering a range of client-centred supports and programming to help individuals with their career and employment needs, LRES will provide simplified and effective pathways to finding sustainable employment for individuals and employers, based on their needs.
